IN THE SPECIFICATION:

On page 1, the paragraph of lines 10-12 was replaced with the following:

---This application is a continuation of U.S. Patent Application No. 09/758,802 filed January 11, 2001, now U.S. Patent 6,717,037, the contents of which are hereby incorporated by reference in their entirety.---

IN THE CLAIMS:

Claim 16 was cancelled without prejudice.

Claims 19 and 22-24 were amended as follows:

---Claim 19 (Currently amended). The maize plant of claim 11, further [defined as having] comprising a genome comprising a single gene conversion.---

---Claim 22 (Currently amended). The maize plant of claim 19, wherein the gene confers a trait selected from the group consisting of herbicide tolerance; insect resistance; resistance to bacterial, fungal, [nematode] or viral disease; [yield enhancement;] waxy starch; [improved nutritional quality;] male sterility and restoration of male fertility.

Claim 23 (Currently amended). The maize plant of claim 11, wherein said plant [is] further comprises [defined as comprising] a gene conferring male sterility.

Claim 24 (Currently amended). The maize plant of claim 11, wherein said plant [is] further [defined as comprising] comprises a transgene conferring a trait selected from the group consisting of male sterility, herbicide resistance, insect resistance, and disease resistance.---

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Lila A. T. Akrad on 01 September 2006.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Applicant's response of 17 July 2006 to the Request for Information under 37 CFR 1.105 has been reviewed. The Examiner has confirmed that claims drawn to a maize seed or plant comprising at least one set of chromosomes of inbred line PH581, including F1 hybrid seed and plants, are free of the prior art. It is now considered that such claims are also adequately described, since the presence of the unique haplotype of the inbred parent may be confirmed by the use of molecular markers. It is also considered that such claims are adequately enabled, as one skilled in the art would be able to determine an optimal environment for any hybrid maize plant exhibiting a particular set of traits, and as the hybrid vigor inherent in hybrids would confer utility in any agronomic setting.

Furthermore, it is now considered that any method of using PH581 in a maize breeding process is adequately described, since the starting material PH581 is adequately described. Moreover, it is now considered that claims drawn to PH581 further comprising a transgene or conventionally introduced gene conversion are adequately described, given the availability of numerous species of the genus of transgenes and conventional gene conversions. It is also considered that such claims are enabled, given the knowledge by those skilled in the art that numerous transgenes and gene conversions have been successfully introduced and expressed in a variety of maize genotypes, and given the knowledge by those skilled in the art of how to backcross plants for multiple generations to reconstitute the initial recipient parent genome.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
